Amtrak Rail Pass

Early Plans

This summer, I plan to use the Amtrak Rail Pass to travel for 1 month. This blog will contain my plans for the journey, and my thoughts on each day's experiences.
The following map gives an overview of the approximate Amtrak routes across the U.S. Chicago is the center of the rail network.

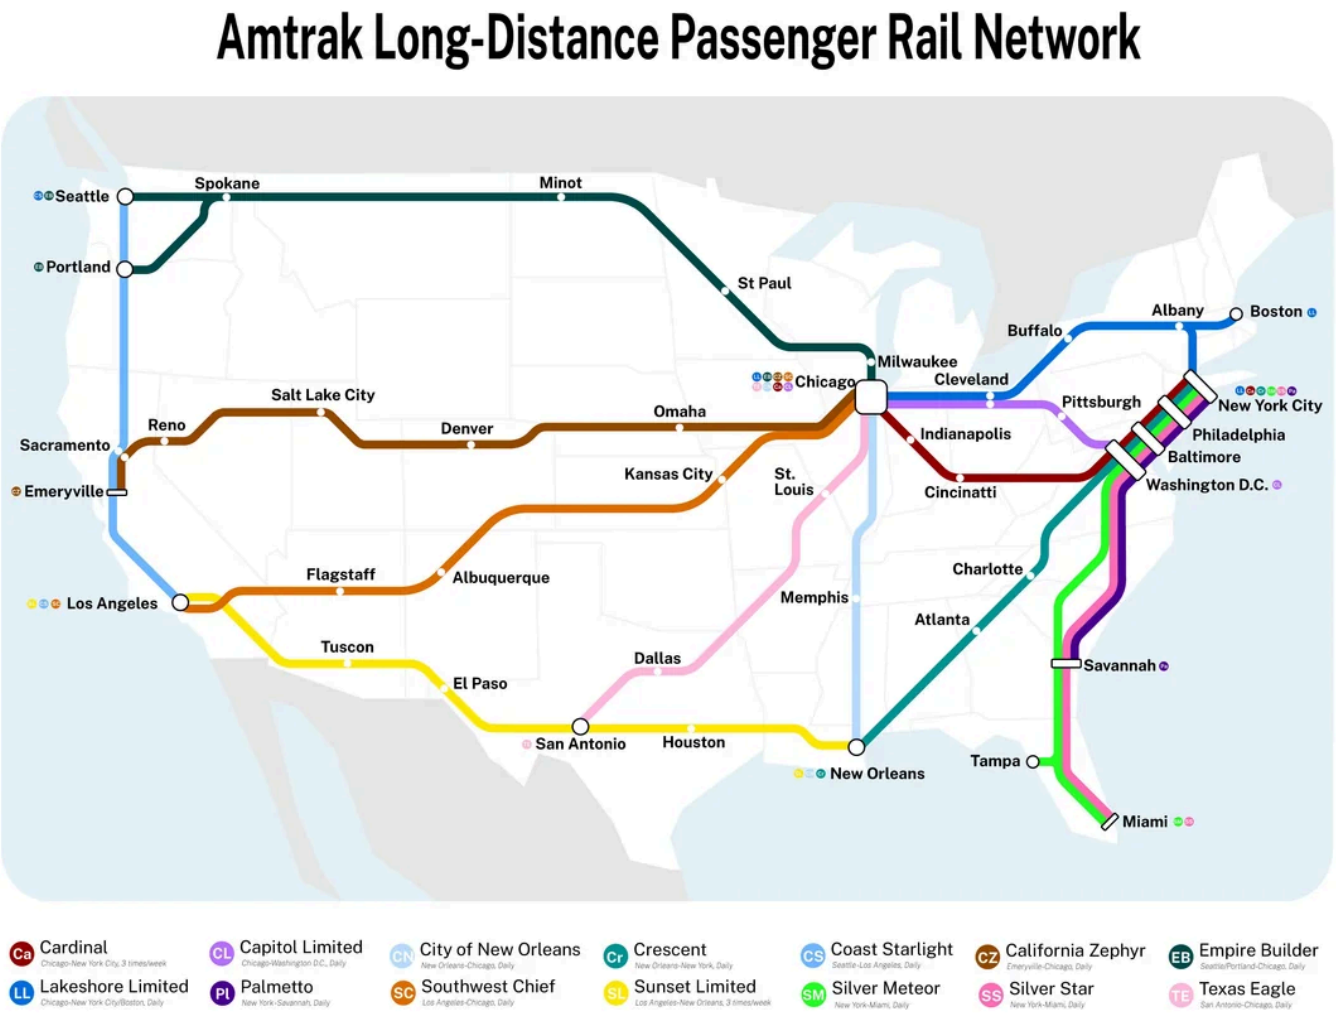

Figure 1: Amtrak Route Map [1]

Itinerary

Currently, the itinerary of cities is

- Dallas -> Chicago (Texas Eagle)
- Chicago -> Boston (Lakeshore Limited)
- Boston -> New York City (Lakeshore Limited)
- New York City -> Philadelphia (Many Options for Line)
- Philadelpha -> Washington D.C. (Northeast Regional, no rail pass)
- Washington D.C. -> Chicago (Cardinal)
- Chicago -> Seattle (Empire Builder)
- Seattle -> Los Angeles (Coast Starlight)
- Los Angeles -> Emeryville (Coast Starlight)
- Emeryville -> Chicago (California Zephyr)
- Chicago -> Dallas (Texas Eagle)

Packing List

- Hiking Bag
- Water Bottle
- 3 Pairs Pants
- Sweatpants
- Shirt
- Sweater
- Shoes
- Raincoat
- Sewing Kit
- Towel
- Toothbrush/toothpaste
- Deodorant
- Shampoo/soap (travel sizes)
- Hand sanitizer
- TP
- Phone/Charger
- Laptop/Charger
- Battery Pack
- Granola
- Dried Fruit
- Bread
- Hard Cheese
- Nut Butter
- Ziploc Bag
- Cutlery
- Trackers

Boston

3 Days
Freedom Trail North End Galleria Umberto Isabella Gardner Museum JFK Presidential Library Paul Revere Hours Boston Common

New York City

5 Days
Smithsonian American Museum of Natural History Pizza World Trade Center Central Park Empire State Building (see from outside) Rockefeller Center Museum Mile 5th Avenue St. Patrick's Cathedral Museum of Modern Art Guggenheim Museum Times Square Greenwich Village The Edge Walk across Brooklyn Bridge Grand Central Station + Penn Station New York Public Library Little Italy Chinatown Brooklyn Botanic Garden

Philadelphia

2 Days
Independence Hall Reading Terminal Market Benjamin Franklin Parkway Philadelphia Museum of Art Longwood Gardens Delaware River Waterfront

Washington D.C.

3 Days
Smithsonian Museums Baltimore

Seattle

3 Days

Los Angeles

3 Days

San Francisco

4 Days

Chicago

Bibliography

[1] caliberal, "A map I made showing the Amtrak long-distance routes." 2023.